Report Italian Forces Attacking French Guerillas

French Refuse To Obey Ultimatum For Surrender Made By Axis

HOLD POSITIONS IN FRENCH ALPS

(International News Service)
LONDON, March 16.—Martial law was proclaimed in the Haute Savoie region of the French Alps near the Swiss border today following refusal of a huge French patriot guerilla army to surrender despite an attack by 6,000 Italian regular troops.

The Algiers radio reported declaration of martial law and said that Frenchmen from all parts of the country are rushing to join the guerilla army.

As tension mounted in the conquered countries, International News Service learned from a reliable source that all Nazi garrisons on the French and Belgian coasts have been put on the alert and all leaves have been cancelled.

A Reuters dispatch from Zurich said that French mobile guard units had refused to join Italian troops in their attacks on the French patriots. One native of the Haute Savoie region who recently arrived in Geneva declared that the guerillas have ample supplies but are poorly armed.

The surrender ultimatum expired at 5 p. m. yesterday. Loud speakers exhorted the guerillas to lay down their arms or face annihilation, but they made no reply.

British officers were commanding French troops in the Savoie region and that British planes were dropping supplies.

War Action Increases North Of Australia

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, In Australia, March 16.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's warning that the Japanese are reinforcing their bases along the semi-circular group of islands north of Australia was strikingly borne out today by the swift rush of events.

A headquarters communique revealed that Allied airmen had blasted an enemy convoy approaching Dobo in the Aru Islands directly north of Australia yesterday, scoring direct hits on two troopships.

Japs Attack Darwin
Simultaneously Japanese warplanes pressed home their strongest attack against Darwin on the northern coast of Australia in many months.

Twelve enemy fighters and two bombers were shot down out of an attacking force of 49 Nipponese planes, while five others were seriously damaged. Four Spitfires were lost in the battle, but the pilots of two were saved.

American, British And Canadian Officials Agree On Moves To Hit Menace

ADMIRAL KING HEADS PARLEYS
By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Pacing the way for the coming Allied invasion of Europe, the Navy disclosed today that American, British and Canadian officials have "reached complete agreement" on a policy to smash the Nazi U-boat menace in the Atlantic.

The Navy announcement said that a series of meetings have been held in Washington "under the chairmanship" of Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. Fleet, indicating he is playing the leading role in the intensified anti-submarine campaign.

To Protect Shipping
"Complete agreement was reached on the policy to be pursued in the protection of Allied shipping in the Atlantic and in the best methods of employing the Allied escort vessels, anti-submarine craft and aircraft in defeating the U-boat menace," the Navy communique declared.

Issued simultaneously in London, Ottawa, and Washington, the announcement came on the heels of Axis claims of U-boat successes that indicated Hitler has begun his spring offensive to cut United Nations supply lines to the European and African war zones.

Weather Causes Some Curtailment In Bombing Raids

Axis Raiders Make Attempt At Small Attack Upon Britain Last Night

(International News Service)
LONDON, March 16.—A comparative lull in the aerial warfare over Europe, presumably due to unfavorable weather conditions, had developed today.

The air ministry announced that American-built Ventura bombers, escorted and covered by British Spitfires, had attacked an airfield at St. Brieuc in Brittany in daylight and again in the evening, while the new British Typhoon fighters raided enemy shipping off the Dutch coast and set afire an armed trawler.

One of the Venturas is missing, the air ministry announcement said. Axis raiders that attacked two towns on the northeast coast of England were met by a heavy barrage of anti-aircraft fire last night. Four of the enemy planes were destroyed. No damage or casualties have thus far been reported.

The Berlin radio claimed that a force of heavy German bombers had caused many fires in a night raid on the town of Grimsby in England. Berlin admitted that two of the bombers failed to return from the raid.

NEGOTIATIONS ON COAL WAGE PACT WILL BE STARTED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 16.—Faced with the union threat not to mine coal without a contract after April 1, representatives of the northern bituminous operators and United Mine Workers today appointed subcommittees to negotiate a working pact.

Naming of the committees ended five days of public debate following the union request for a wage boost of $2 daily among other working concessions. The demands were rejected by soft coal operators in both northern and southern fields.

Northern bituminous operators, told bluntly that soft coal won't be mined after April 1 without a contract, joined representatives of the United Mine Workers today in creating a subcommittee to take up the difficult task of drafting a working pact.

This action terminated five days of wrangling in public conference over the union's demands, chief of which is a $2 daily wage boost that is far in excess of the 15 per cent authorized by the "little steel" formula to which the government so far has adhered. There also was plenty of name-calling, climaxed yesterday by UMW President John L. Lewis' flat declaration that no coal would be mined after March 31, when the present working agreement expires, without a contract.

REPORT BOY'S ACT CAUSES BLACKOUT ON NORTH HILL

Street lights over a large area of the north hill were off for half an hour last night as a result of what is reported to have been an act of vandalism by a boy.

According to reports from the Power company, the boy hurled a potato at a street light in Garfield avenue and the potato struck a metal arm, causing it to burn and occasioning the street light blackout.

On the north hill street lights were out half an hour starting at 8:30 and in the Croton area were out for a few minutes.

Greater Air Battles Looming In Pacific

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—With American airmen stepping up their aerial offensive against Japan in the north and south Pacific, a survey of communiques disclosed today that at least 130 separate air attacks have been made against enemy bases in the Aleutians and Solomons since Feb. 1.

This is an average of more than 43 attacks a day over a period of 43 days since the week that enemy resistance was crushed on Guadalcanal. Even the Japs failed to maintain such a rate in the early weeks of the Solomons campaign.

Not included in this total are numerous bombing assaults against Japanese shipping and bases by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's airmen from the Australian area.

Expect Greater Battles

Air battles unequalled to date in the Pacific conflict are expected in the near future due to the fact that the Japs are reported to be massing planes along the island perimeter across the top of Australia and New Guinea.

Hardest hit during the period covered by the survey have been the Jap bases at Munda, in the central Solomons, and enemy strongholds at Buna, Kahari and Ballale in the (Continued On Page Two)

Bitter Fighting Rages East Of Kharkov, Evacuated By Russians

HEAVY FIGHTING ALONG WIDE FRONT

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, March 16.—Russian armies smashed westward on the Smolensk front today and retreating German troops, falling back on the Nazi winter base, were reported leaving blazing towns and villages in their wake to slow the advance of the Red army.

Meanwhile Soviet forces, driven from strategic Kharkov, fought bitterly east of the city and along the whole Donets river front in a desperate effort to check the German counter-offensive.

Russian columns were driving on Smolensk from captured Vyazma, and north from the Moscow-Velkie Luki rail line which has been cleared of enemy troops. At one point Soviet spearheads were reported within 80 miles of Smolensk.

More Towns Taken

Dozens of additional villages and towns were taken by the Russians in the sweep southwest along the Vyazma-Smolensk rail line.

Reuters' Moscow correspondent said Russian columns were within 72 miles of Smolensk. An exchange telegraph dispatch said Moscow lacked definite information as to the positions of the various Soviet spearheads smashing towards Smolensk but it was believed the Russians were within 50 to 60 miles of their objective.

Fierce battles raged in the northern Donets Basin, south and southeast of Kharkov where the Germans were trying to extend their gains. On one sector the Russians destroyed 32 enemy tanks.

On another sector a German infantry company was wiped out in an attempt to cross the Donets in a drive to the east bank.

Elsewhere on the front, from Lake Ilmen to Rostov, heavy fighting was in progress. Soviet forces west of (Continued On Page Two)

Fighting Rages In Western Burma But Lines Not Changed

(International News Service)
NEW DELHI, March 16.—Fighting continues to rage between British and Japanese forces north of Rangoon in western Burma, but up to last night there was no change in positions, the British India command announced today.

An official communique said that most of the activity has been concentrated chiefly in the area between Thungay and Kyaukse, where a series of fierce attacks and counter-attacks are taking place.

Bombing and fighting planes of the Royal Air Force gave maximum support to ground forces throughout the day and in one sector bombs were seen to burst on all targets attacked. One large fire was started among enemy-occupied buildings.

He's running the ball for his Uncle Sam and the ball is a fighting plane, but the stuff he has and the tricks he has, are practically the same. Some change of pace, and a burst of speed, a forward pass with a bomb, some cannon fire instead of the ball, a slush at the line and he's gone. And there isn't a standard of cheering fans, to root the lad on his way, but the game is bigger, and deadlier too, it's war, sixty-eight today.

Eden Discusses Strategy Of War

Military Plans Being Considered In Conferences As Well As Post-War Action

EDEN WILL CONFER WITH WELLES TODAY

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Allied military plans and operations for defeating the Axis today are understood to be figuring in the conversations which British foreign secretary Anthony Eden is holding with the American government.

Contrary to the general belief, Eden's talks are not confined merely to postwar problems. An authoritative source said Eden has been discussing military strategy, especially in his conferences with secretary of war Stimson and secretary of navy Knox.

Censorship restrictions and security reasons prevent disclosure of the specific military operation Eden has been discussing, but it is reasonable to suppose that he has touched on the plans for an Anglo-American invasion of the European continent this year.

Furthermore, the youthful British foreign secretary is showing evidence in his talks of being strongly in favor of the strategy of continued offensive operations against the enemy.

He is showing an active interest in the problems of winning the war as well as the peace that follows. In this connection, informed sources pointed out that Eden is a member of the British war cabinet and therefore keenly interested in the day-to-day development of military operations and plans.

It also recalled that Eden was secretary of war in the British cabinet in 1940 and supported at that time the dispatch of Britain's best armed force to Egypt to enable General Sir Archibald Wavell to launch his winter offensive against the Axis forces of German Field Marshal Rommel.

Eden scheduled a conference today with undersecretary of state Sumner Welles, and this conference is expected to deal chiefly with the task of winning the peace.

More Nazi Threats

Another Reuters dispatch from Geneva said that Nazi Labor Chief Fritz Sauckel in an interview with Pierre Laval last night had warned Laval that unless he carries out his promise to send another 250,000 workers to Germany in the next three days, the German army will be called in to supervise the "enrollment" of labor all over France. The supervision will be conducted "with absolute ruthlessness," Sauckel is said to have told Laval.

Laval originally proposed to provide Germany with 250,000 workers by March 15.

Evacuation of civilians from the coastal areas where the allied landing attempts are expected has been ordered by Gen. Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, commander of the German occupation forces in France.

Threaten Hostages

Meanwhile the Nazi-controlled Paris radio blared out the warning that American and British hostages in Axis hands will be executed unless the allies halt their devastating bombardment of Axis objectives in Germany and its vassal states.

The broadcast, recorded by British monitors, said that "Anglo-American prisoners will be held responsible with their lives for outrages against civilians of Germany and France."

The official Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Bern, reported that complete evacuation of civilians from a considerable portion of the channel and Atlantic coasts has been ordered by March 30.

According to the Tass report, the Nazi U-boat bases of St. Nazaire and Lorient and the coastal cities of Rochefort and La Rochelle have been completely cleared of civilians. All of these cities are located on the Bay of Biscay. St. Nazaire and Lorient have been repeatedly blasted by allied bombers in an effort to thwart the Nazi submarine campaign at its source.

bombers combined forces with Beaufighter attack planes in the assault on the three-ship enemy convoy in the Arafura Sea south of the Aru Islands. Sweeping in behind the Hudsons and Mitchells the Beaufighters raked enemy troops jamming the decks with cannon and machine-gun fire, inflicting heavy casualties.

Only one Allied plane failed to return from the attack.

Raid Enemy Base

Flying fortresses again raided the enemy base at Wewak on the north-eastern coast of New Guinea, concentrating their bombs on the town itself. There were no signs of the Jap convoy which was first sighted off Wewak Saturday, the ships apparently having unloaded rapidly and disappeared before weather conditions improved sufficiently to permit Allied airmen to return to the attack.

Strafing attacks were carried out by Beaufighters along trail in the Lae, Salamaua and Mubo areas while other Allied planes made harassing raids on enemy airbases at Gasmata, Cape Gloucester and Finshafen.

The only enemy retaliation for all of these activities in the New Guinea sector was a raid by 15 bombers against the wharf area at Oro Bay, which caused only negligible damage and no casualties.

Congressman Says 22 Government Workers Deferred As Conscientious Objectors

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R.) of Illinois today disclosed that 22 government workers in Washington have obtained draft deferments as conscientious objectors even though they hold jobs where they had to take an oath of allegiance to "defend" the constitution of the United States.

The situation is unconscionable, Dirksen insisted. "It is beyond any understanding."

Jobs held by the conscientious objectors, according to Dirksen, include those as a laborer in the Navy department; a painter in the Navy; a messenger in the army air corps; a chemist in the bureau of standards; an inspector and an assistant attorney in the Labor department.

"They are all in Washington," he added. "We do not know how many more there may be in similar positions throughout the country."

northern Solomons. At least 112 separate assaults on base points were reported by the navy.

In the north Pacific weather has prevented daily attacks against the Jap-held island of Kiska, but with the approach of spring, these assaults have increased in tempo.

During the month of February, U. S. army planes dropped an estimated 500,000 pounds of bombs in nine separate attacks on Kiska. In contrast, eight separate air assaults were carried out the first two weeks in March.

Day and Night Raids

The raids on Jap bases in the Solomons are being made by day and night against little or no enemy opposition. Munda alone has been blasted by bombers more than 90 times since Nov. 23, when U. S. forces discovered the Japs were building an airport there.

Importance of wiping out this Jap base or keeping it neutralized is vital because of its proximity to Henderson airfield on Guadalcanal.

Keeping the Buin-Paisi area of the northern Solomons under constant attack also has proved important to American forces, both in Australia and Guadalcanal. These points have served the Japs as feeder bases for attacks against New Guinea and Henderson field.

Due to this increased American aerial activity, some navy men believe the Japs soon will move against some United Nations base in an effort to upset possible U. S. plans for a major spring offensive.

Jap's remaining fleet units have made no effort to challenge American warships since the big sea-air battle off Guadalcanal in mid-November, but it is known that the enemy still has powerful battleships, carriers and other warships at Truk, 1,000 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

Rostov destroyed a German blockhouse. Russian artillery exploded two ammunition dumps.

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's army, pressing on Staraya Russa on the south shore of Lake Ilmen occupied a strong enemy defense point and captured 200 German troops.

Kharkov Evacuated

A Soviet communique admitted that the Red Army defenders had evacuated Kharkov after a "tense, fierce battle."

The German high command sacrificed thousands of men and hundreds of tanks and motorized vehicles in the assault on the Kharkov defenses. The Germans threw an army of 25 divisions, including 12 tank divisions, against the Russian lines, and supported this huge army with fresh reinforcements during the bitter fighting that raged for days.

Whether the fruits of the victory were worth the cost remained to be seen. As the Axis armies drove eastward on the Donets front, Red Army columns smashed ahead to the north in the unchecked drive towards Smolensk, the great Nazi winter base 230 miles west of Moscow.

Capture of this German supply base, military observers said, would nullify the German advances before Kharkov and in the Donets Basin, and would outflank the whole enemy drive south of Moscow.

Admit Kharkov Fall

Russian admission that Kharkov had again fallen to the enemy came 24 hours after a Berlin claim that oncoming German armies had re-occupied the city.

The Soviet communique was terse and to the point.

"On March 15, after tense, fierce fighting, Soviet troops evacuated Kharkov on orders of the high command," the communique stated.

The Red Army wasted no further words on this defeat. On other fronts the Russians surged ahead, and importance of the Nazi victory rested on the future of the mighty battle on the 1,000-mile front from Lake Ilmen to Vyazma.

On all sectors except in the Donets Basin Soviet forces held the initiative. Moscow remained calm, and confidence prevailed that Russian drives westward south and north of Kharkov would soon pocket the invaders, leaving them in the helpless position their aggressive armies once recently faced in the Stalingrad disaster.

GROUND ACTIVITY IN TUNISIA AREA ON SMALL SCALE

Gafsa area were successfully dispersed by concerted artillery fire from allied positions.

The communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reported quiet on the southern front along the Mareth defense line. The British eighth army under command of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery carried out "normal patrols," the communique said.

Earlier it had been announced that American bombers were hammering Axis positions in the Mareth line. British Spitfires smashed a German attack on allied shipping off the Algerian coast.

Radio France, the Algiers station directed by the headquarters of Gen. Henri Giraud reported that French forces were moving toward Gafsa in south central Tunisia. The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

One German torpedo bomber was destroyed and several others damaged when a formation of eight Heinkel-III's attempted to raid the allies' Mediterranean supply route.

Weather Is Bad

Inclement weather held air and ground activity throughout the Tunisia battle area to a minimum.

Mitchell bombers of the western desert air force managed, however, to drop a number of bombs on the Mareth fortifications.

In northern Tunisia a few Spitfires strafed two German trucks, a staff car and a motorcyclist presumably carrying dispatches. Curtiss Warhawks and Spitfires carried out several sweeps in the Mareth line, but results were not disclosed.

During the night of March 13-14, it was announced, two additional enemy bombers were destroyed.

No allied planes were lost in yesterday's operations.

Repulse British

Frontline dispatches said the Germans repulsed a British attempt to improve allied defensive positions in the Tamara sector west of Sedjenane in northern Tunisia over the week-end. The battle followed a hull of several days.

Attacking the Germans on a ridge dominating the Tamara line Saturday, the British succeeded in reaching the northern part of the ridge, but were blocked by machine-gun and mortar fire in the south. At the end of the day all of the advanced British units retired to their original positions.

The Germans retaliated with a fierce mortar and machine-gun barrage yesterday and for a time it seemed as if an Axis attack was imminent, but it failed to materialize.

American medium bombers, escorted by British and American fighters, met no opposition in their raids on the Mareth line or in their sweeps over the forward battle areas.

Belated reports showed today that American Curtiss Warhawk fighters-bombers shot down four enemy planes and destroyed or damaged six others in a dogfight southeast of Gabes on the eastern Tunisian coast Saturday. A fifth enemy plane was downed by one of the British fighters. Three American planes were lost in the battle.

McILVAINE GUILD HEARS 'VICTORY GARDEN' TALK

Meeting of the McIlvaine Guild of the First Presbyterian church in the church parlors Monday evening was the occasion of a talk on "Victory Vegetable Gardening" by Howard A. Butler, and election of officers for the coming year.

Mr. Butler, who is a faculty member of the senior high school science department and gardener of many years experience, urged those who have a good chance for success to help in the need for gardens by planting one this year.

He stressed the importance of choosing a well-drained site for the gardens and getting seed and plants into the ground at the right time, and planning for a continuous supply of easily grown vegetables rather than trying for too great variety.

It was voted to sponsor a Y. W. C. A. campership.

R.A.F. HIT BEST TARGETS AT ESSEN

DECONNAISSANCE reports of the tremendous damage done by the huge R.A.F. bomber raid over Essen Friday night give the British air ministry substantial reasons to hope that the vast Krupp armament plant has finally been wiped out.

More than 1,000 tons of block busters were dropped on Essen, causing fires which in several instances sent smoke rolling 15,000 feet—almost three miles—into the air. Big fires were still raging 12 hours after the great R.A.F. raid. It was noted by the air ministry spokesman that in the raid on Friday, March 5, about 450 acres in Essen were devastated and 53 Krupp shops knocked out.

The two blows, a week apart, must have been very serious, considering the size and importance to the Nazis of the great Krupp Works. These raids are not aimed at helpless civilians or the favorite Nazi targets, school houses, but at the industries Hitler had built up so lavishly to aid his design to enslave the world. Those British bombs landed on the best possible targets.

CRUX OF THE FOOD PROBLEM

The president of a leading farm organization touched the crux of the food problem when he said: "There has been failure on the food front. That failure can be traced to the failure of administrative agencies. . . . Empty store shelves, empty meat counters, disruption of production and distribution, are the inevitable result. Now these same people express great concern over food shortages. They have not yet worked out with farm organizations a sound program based on the knowledge of farmers and their organizations."

Subsidies and laws will not create food. Only the farmers can do that, and they need manpower, machinery and stability of government policies which will encourage production instead of keeping it in a constant state of confusion.

SOUND TAX PROPOSAL

Unemployment compensation taxation is now levied on employers in Pennsylvania under an unjust system. It taxes at the same rate those whose employees draw very lightly on the accumulated tax fund and those whose employees draw benefits in excess of the amount their employers pay for their protection.

Besides being unfair to employers, this system embodies no incentive to them to stabilize employment, since their tax burden is the same whether they do so or not. And it has resulted in piling up a surplus of funds greatly in excess of need.

For instance, last year the taxes levied to pay benefits exceeded the benefits paid by $125,000,000. The surplus, now amounting to $350,000,000, is more than 20 times the current annual benefit payments. It is growing rapidly.

The legislature is now being asked to rectify this crazy tax structure by adopting an experience rating system. Such systems have been adopted in 38 states.

The proposal urged at Harrisburg would not increase the levy on any employer. But it would decrease the payments exacted of those whose records show that their contribution to the unemployment problem over a period of three years has been small. Every employer would have a chance to qualify for a lower tax rate, down to a one per cent minimum, by stabilizing employment in his industry.

There is every reason why employers should favor the Experience Rating bill because it is fair to all with injury to none. There is sound reason for labor to favor it because it for the first time assures workers, even if the surplus should dwindle in a period of business recession, that there will always be money on hand to meet unemployment benefit needs. A "safety factor" in the bill provides that when the balance in the fund falls below a safe level tax revision shall restore it.

The proposed measure, Senate Bill 177, is based on sound principles, and is entitled to serious consideration on its merits.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

THREE RINGS, AGAIN

A dispatch from Sarasota, Florida, reveals that Ringling's Circus, about to emerge from winter quarters, has gone old-fashioned. The modernistic trappings of recent seasons, in which Norman Bel Geddes's streamlined decor was so prominent a feature, will be abandoned. When elephants in ballet skirts danced to the music of Igor Stravinsky, Russian modernist composer, it was clear that the circus had gone sophisticated.

"Modernistic spectacles and features were all right for a change," asserts Robert Ringling, new circus director who succeeds John Ringling North, "but I believe circus fans now want a change in the other direction."

So 1943's circus will be without pageant, spectacle or ballet in the modern manner. Instead, there will be a revised version of the old-time street parade, with its red and gold wagons, its clowns and its trained animals. There will be an old-fashioned six-pole tent instead of subdued lighting and "intimate" designs. There'll be old-time personnel. In short, there'll be three rings, two stages and a hippodrome track. Nothing will be left out, not even the circus smell.

Whether the labor strikes which have plagued the circus in recent years as a manifestation of the times can be dispensed with is too much for Mr. Ringling to predict.

Showmen are supposed to be wise in their knowledge of public taste. What caused Mr. Ringling to chuck modernism in favor of old-fashioned trappings? Can it be that there's enough streamlining in real life just now without having a streamlined circus, too? Airplanes, warships, tanks, guns, trains, troops, even clothes and diet, all are streamlined.

It will be a pleasure to go to an old-fashioned, lush, opulent, three-ring show, as a moment of relaxation from one-ring, streamlined life.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TYPICAL HAPPY AMERICAN HOME

Although there are some very un-lap families, there also are many happy ones.

Please allow me to describe one of these with whom Mrs. Myers and I sat recently as dinner guests, being strangers to them until that occasion.

The family consisted of young parents and two children, both girls, one of five years, the other nine months old. The father called for us at the hotel in a taxicab, explaining that they had no car but were staying a home instead. How sensible!

Good Manners

A few minutes after our arrival the mother put the baby to bed, cuddling her a bit on the way. No sound came from this child thereafter. Then this quiet, poised mother proceeded with the dinner while the little daughter and 'er dad entertained us, he helping the mother in the kitchen part of the time. She evinced no haste or nervous strain, a perfect hostess. There was no maid.

Four of us adults sat around the dinner table, the daughter in a high chair a few feet away (since she had a cold that might endanger the rest had she got closer). She reverently bowed her little head as grace was said.

The father talked some during the meal, not too much. Her parents answered all her questions kindly and were duly considerate of her when she talked. They did not interrupt her when she talked to Mrs. Myers or me, nor did they indicate by their movements, breathing or demeanor that they feared she might say something she shouldn't. She ate heartily and with no special attention or criticism from anyone.

And So To Bed

Dinner over, we all went to the living room. After a few minutes the mother suggested to the daughter that she should go put on her nightgown. Having lingered (normally) a few more minutes, with convincing excuses, the child went upstairs alone after the father had turned on the lights for her. The mother didn't raise her voice on the second reminder, which was enough.

In due time the little girl returned clad for bed, passed a box of candy and then took a piece herself. Then she took a second piece. The mother said softly, "Only one."

It worked. Next the father, story book in hand, accompanied the child to her bedroom. He read just one story, kissed her goodnight, closed the door and joined us.

All of us visited leisurely for several more minutes till the door bell rang and a young married couple arrived. After they were seated there came a call from that bedroom. The father went and, on return, confided quietly to us that the little girl called him to say that the buttons did not fit right into the buttonholes of her nightgown, that he adjusted them and then fulfilled her real purpose of calling him—telling her who had arrived. He fully understood and so did we. Nothing more was heard from the child during the rest of our stay in that lovely home.

Solving Parent Problems

Q You advise spanking to teach obedience. It won't work with my girl of three. You could beat her, yet she would not close the door when commanded to do so, if she had taken a notion not to close it.

A Naturally so. I have never advised spanking a tot to make her do what you command. On the contrary, I have warned repeatedly against any positive command to a child so young. I have urged that we spank the tot only to keep him from doing a few definite, forbidden things. Make painful only the few things he must never do, and pleasant the many more things you want him to do, if you would have an obedient, co-operative little child.

Washington is so crowded that when a new hotel opened a couple of weeks ago the first guests shared rooms with the bricklayers.

One girl started to comb her hair and then remembered she hadn't pulled her shade down. Then she started over to it, 20 guys yelled up "look out—there's no wall there yet!"

The youth movement has taken over all the rooms in Washington. Government department are filled with bright young men who are about rifle size. They are not draft dodgers, they are "essentials."

When they get through being essential they come captains. This is a nice clean detour around the ranks and raises no callouses on feet or hands.

If we can get enough captains we can win the war just as soon as we can get enough privates.

Inside Washington

South America Has Faith In U. S.
Summer Welles Is Liked By Latins
Only One Dissenting Voice Heard

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Latin-American republics have responded warmly to State Undersecretary Summer Welles' assurance that the United States has not the remotest idea of establishing a single military base on the soil of any of them, or in their various vicinities that can impair the absolute independence of any of their number.

Welles undoubtedly is the best minister of inter-American affairs available in this country.

President Roosevelt is the No. 1 missionary of New World good neighborliness. Vice President Henry A. Wallace has worked hard to learn their two languages—Spanish and Portuguese. At present he is touring a number of the Latin Nations, making speeches. Director Nelson A. Rockefeller's Inter-American Coordination Office is working effectively.

Welles, however, not only speaks their language and has visited all of them, but he has lived in them and was personally popular among them in days prior to the good neighbor campaign, when they generally did not like us so well.

As a matter of fact, we have obtained some wartime concessions for bases on the coasts of several of them, but we did so with their governments' cordial endorsement.

We also have 99-year leases for bases on New World British soil, in localities which may appear to be pointed in Latin America's direction, and there has been talk in congress that we ought to insist on making these bargains permanent, in return for lend-lease aid extended to them or their home folk.

It was injudicious talk, by legislators who did not realize how damaging it would be among such Latins as did not understand how meaningless it was. Most of them, though, did realize it. They complained that we have been our own defense in mind as well as in action.

Germany, it is well known, long has wanted to horn in onto our Latin-American Atlantic coast and Japan on the Pacific side.

The Latins objected on both fronts. They had foreign colonies, though, which more or less overruled them. Furthermore, back in pre-war neighborhood days, when everything south of the Rio Grande was a terra incognita to all but a few Yankee traders, we paid no attention to German and Asiatic activity on our sides of the southern Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Spain, Portugal and Italy would have been the natural overseas lands to be so busy at. However, it mainly was Germany and Japan. The Spanish, Portuguese and Italians apparently took it for granted that they were in solid in Latin America, but they were not; they classed as native.

The British were better entrenched than we were. Our advent started with World War I and then only with a couple of our banking companies and the mere handful of diplomats, such as Summer Welles, then first secretary of the United States embassy in Buenos Aires.

The Axis has tried, in the present crisis, to take advantage of our unpopularity, to propagandize against us.

Their story is that we are trying to gobble the whole hemisphere—annex it.

Summer Welles denies it absolutely and is fully believed, as conclusively proved by the Latins' reaction.

The only one of the 20 southern republics where I might slightly qualify this statement is Argentina, which has not broken relations with the Axis. Just why it has not is something of a problem. Probably this is because of commercial rivalry with us—their agricultural production and our own being so similar.

Argentina figures importantly in the discussion.

As I have already had occasion to remark, Latin America emphatically is air-minded because it is extremely shy on surface transportation. This hits Argentina well and the rest of them. This fact may bring Argentina into line. Indeed, it sure to do so, with post-war developments.

Argentina is due to be marooned if that nation stands pat over-independently in that respect.

THE JEEP

(American Jeeps are being used in England for spring plowing.)

Rough and rugged little jeep, Built for service under fire, Climbing roads however steep, Pushing on through mud and mire.

Carrying generals to and fro, Bringing back some wounded boy, Now to gentler work you go, Work your driver should enjoy.

Rough and rugged little jeep, When the springtime comes again, Plow the furrows straight and deep, For the autumn's golden grain.

Though for battle you were made, And your sides are thickly steeled, Now you draw a kinder trade, Over many an English field.

Rough and rugged little jeep, When the victory is won, And peace is ours to keep, And this dreadful war is done, This forevermore we ask.

When the spring returns again, You shall know no heavier task, Than to plow the field for grain.

Co-operative dinners are a good idea during the emergency, and it is correct in these occasions to ask each guest to bring certain articles of food.

The World and the Mud Puddles

AWAY WITH BUREAUCRATS

Unless a lot of our swivel-chair home guard warriors pipe down and start using brains instead of wind in planning this war, they are going to drive everybody completely crazy.

Instead of bolstering the people with assurance of confidence in their ability and willingness to go all the way and to go without to win this war, they are doubting our patriotism, questioning our willingness to produce, criticizing our eagerness to know just what is going on, trying to frighten us with an impending food famine and slapping needless restrictions on everything we do and say.

If our swivel-chair warriors and super-statesmen really want to know what is rightening us, if anything, it is not whether we are going to win the war, but it is their eternal persistence in some dreamy and fantastic New World Order for the future in which we the Americans are to become the hobbled and chink-whiskered goats.

Contrary to and despite all those scare-crows which are being constantly paraded across the continent about the outcomes of an all-out war and the possibility that before it is over we will all be picking scorch with the chickens, this country in one year's time had been completely transformed from an industrial nation devoted to the pursuits of peace into a fighting people turning out war materials in quantities of miraculous proportions.

It would be an easy and simple matter, if we were so disposed, to hurl a few bombs of criticism into Washington because of its determination to run this war and all its planning on a basis of compulsion, rather than in the spirit of loyalty and patriotism. And it is not altogether quieting to be constantly reminded that "social gains" must be preserved at all hazards, when a closer scrutiny reveals these social gains to be in reality political gains.

Cold water is being showered on us to shatter the glow of our hopes because we have five or six million men under arms, and the prospects that within a year it will be seven or eight million. They add a snuder to the announcement that these eight million soldiers and sailors will need twice the amount of food.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

A representative of the OPA has told the New York State hairdressers and cosmetologists that they should stop dispensing gossip to their customers and become morale builders instead.

"Talk to them about buying war bonds, saving food, saving fats," he advised, "make them realize the value of the war and their duty in the war effort."

I don't agree. Sure we should all help in the war.

But I don't think it's the barbers or the hairdresser's place to become propagandists.

I wouldn't want my barber to change for anything in the world. Whenever I go to him for my haircut or shampoo I come out a better and certainly a wiser man.

My barber knows everything. He can solve all my problems, he answers my questions before I ask them.

He knows what MacArthur and Hitler will do next. No military secrets—he tells.

He knows what stocks to buy, what bonds to sell.

What will the weather be tomorrow? The weather man may not know, but my barber does.

What to do to make my falling hair grow out luxuriantly and quickly? My bald-headed barber knows.

"That's a lovely manicurist over there," I said to him, "new, isn't she?"

Yes, she started yesterday," and he proceeds to tell me her whole history back to her earliest childhood.

I know all about his wife and about his three children. He can't get along with his mother-in-law, and one of his customers is going to get him a major's commission in the army.

Who gives you all the real inside dope about Hollywood and Cafe society?

Who tells you all the things that your newspaper wouldn't dare to print? Your hairdresser, of course.

Don't let's make "morale builders" out of our barbers and hairdressers. Morale is wonderful. But so is gossip.

Knowledge is a great possession. Let's keep it spiced with the knowledge of a lot of things that ain't so.

Try Two Jehovah's Witnesses Leaders For Draft Evasion

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., March 16.—Claiming exemption from the draft on the ground that they are ordained ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses, two Lewistown registrants will go on trial tomorrow in federal court on charges of violating the selective service law.

Judge Albert L. Watson set Wednesday afternoon for the trial of Harold Watts and Gerald Wray after the two members of the religious sect pleaded not guilty. A third Lewistown draftee, George Wilt, a member of the same sect, did not enter a plea yesterday and action on his case was undecided. Informed that they were without counsel, the court appointed Jerome Parker to defend Watts and Wray.

The three Lewistown registrants are charged with failure to report to a work camp for conscientious objectors.

as ordinary mortals, and they will have to be fed if the rest of us starve.

Thank heaven, there are still a few fearless and courageous men in Congress, and more outside, who approach this challenge with patriotic confidence and intelligence. We know that it takes an army to win a war, and that soldiers need a lot of food to put up a good fight. If it takes ten million or fifteen million to win the war, they will be forthcoming, and somehow they will be fed and supplied. American factories are turning out guns and tanks and airplanes and explosives in staggering quantities, faster than they can transport them to the fighting fronts.

If some one has failed in synchronizing the men and munitions with food and transportation, whose fault is it? Certainly not the civilians.

It is because of too much wind and not enough brains at the top. There is an old and true saying that too many cooks spoil the broth and if half the rumors we hear are correct, the nation's capital is crawling with a pest of commissions, sub-commissions, bureaus, co-ordinators, boards, and high-paid propagandists until it is little wonder they resort to scare-crows to hold down the blood pressure.

From December 7, 1941 America has had out one purpose, and that was and is to whip the everlasting hell out of Japan, Germany, Italy and every other member of the barbarous gang.

It makes no difference to any of us what we will have to go without to accomplish this end. What we prefer, however, is that we go about it in the good old American way—in the spirit of independence and freedom, and for that we should not be accused and hauled before the bar of justice as seditionists, traitors or disloyalists.

Without that spirit of freedom and individual initiative America would never have been able to accomplish what it already has in this war. That same spirit no doubt fires the fighting ability of the boys who have gone to the front. It is the lack of that spirit that is crushing the morale of the soldiers of the other side, and which will eventually bring them down to defeat.

If there is any disunity in this country it is no deeper than the attempt to displace freedom by compulsion, and I mean that compulsion that smells of dictatorship, super-men and bureaucracy.

America may put up with it for the duration of the war, but the signs are already pretty clear, that it will be short lived thereafter.

RELIEF TRANSFER ACTION DELAYED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 16.—Although the problem of transferring the administration of relief to the counties was still under consideration today, Gov. Edward Martin disclosed that there will be no action taken for another year.

The governor pointed out, however, that his committee was still studying the problem and drafting plans to find a suitable method for the transfer. All public assistance is now administered by the state.

Wallace Sees No Prospect Of Cheap Synthetic Rubber

Believes South America Will Be Vital Source Of Natural Rubber In Peacetime

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Vice-President Henry A. Wallace said Monday there was no prospect of synthetic rubber being produced as cheaply as natural rubber and voiced belief that South America may be an important peacetime source of rubber.

He urged, however, that the United States have more than one source of rubber on which to depend in the future. Wallace's ideas were explained as he disclosed his itinerary for a forthcoming good-will trip to Central and South America. He will leave this week by plane.

"I am sure those in Central and South America can furnish rubber to us at very reasonable prices—prices lower than there is any prospect producers of synthetic rubber can equal," said Wallace.

Training School Sessions Opened

Good Enrollments At All Six Courses Offered For Sunday Schools

Splendid attendance and interest greeted the leadership training school that started yesterday evening, March 15, at the First Baptist church, under the auspices of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and all six courses offered had good enrollments.

Under the Bible content courses, Dr. G. S. Bennett gave his Old Testament course on "The Major Prophets" and Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, gave the New Testament course on "The Book of the Acts". The two Young Peoples courses, "Planning a Young Peoples Society Program" with Rev. Clyde Roland as instructor, and "Young People at Worship" with Rev. C. R. Thayer as instructor, were interesting and beneficial.

The Children's course, with Mrs. B. F. Johnson as instructor, and the Music course with Chester Kyle as instructor, were of a high order and were well received. Instead of the devotional period, the county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., presented the "Dean" of the school, Frank L. Burton, who made fitting remarks, and also called upon the assistants, Rev. Clyde Roland and Rev. C. R. Thayer, who reported that in order to receive credit, attendance was necessary at four of the five Monday night sessions. They also spoke of the value of doing the required outside work in order to receive the credit that any, if they so desire, may receive.

The next session will be Monday, March 21, and those attending may go directly to their classes at 7:30 p.m.

Urges Gathering Of Domestic Fuelwood In Nearby Forests

Forest Secretary Predicts Shortage Next Winter; Wood Should Be Cut Now

HARRISBURG, March 16.—The domestic fuelwood situation will probably be more acute next winter than it has been in recent months, Deputy Secretary of the State Department of Forests and Waters, Charles E. Baer, predicted today after a preliminary survey of current statistics.

Concern over the apparent lack of this inexpensive fuel for stoves, furnaces and open fireplaces in private homes and for some industrial plants in smaller industries, developed when reports indicated even greater difficulties in commercial collection and transportation.

"Contrastingly, however," Baer said, "the wood is available, and now is the time to get it—during spring and early summer—to season it for most efficient results."

Suggesting fuelwood as a substitute for oil or coal, "at least as a temporary measure," Baer added that where possible the substitution can be made with little trouble "for most satisfactory results."

He further suggested "wood cutting parties" or "roups, to collect and transport fuelwood to homes in preparation for expected "war inconveniences" of the next winter. The deputy secretary said that millions of acres of woodlands in this state were not systematically thinned during former years and the quantities of dead, dying and "weed" trees is so plentiful that an expanded use of fuelwood is urged wherever feasible.

He called special attention to the cutting of fire cherry, a common tree in Pennsylvania and, incidentally, a favorite host of the obnoxious tent caterpillar. Removal of fire cherry for fuelwood, he said, will not only help in checking these pests, but will also improve the timber stand. This wood makes an excellent heat and is colorful while burning.

Numerous lumbering operations are now in progress throughout the state, said Baer, and waste material can easily be obtained and used as fuel. Owners usually welcome the opportunity to have the tops of trees, large limbs and defective logs removed because of the fire hazard. Baer recommended larger pieces of fuelwood be split and stacked in a dry spot exposed to the sun and wind. Skids should be used to keep the wood from the damp ground. For best results some roofing or shelter can be provided by packing the top layers closely to prevent rain seepage.

Then to obtain best heating qualities from wood stoves and furnaces Baer added a suggestion to clean chimneys at least once a year. Common rock or ice cream salt is a cheap and effective material for soot removal. One to three cupfuls of salt can be scattered on the red hot bed of fuel, close down the furnace for about 15 minutes by opening the drafts, and the fire will burn the treated soot.

Incidentally, Baer also cautioned owners of wood-burning machines and tools to keep such equipment in the best of condition, warning of the curtailment of purchases of parts and new material.

Favorably Report Building Of New Jersey Ship Canal

Bill For $199,000,000 Waterway Amended To Be Solely Federal Expense

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 16.—The house rivers and harbors committee today favorably reported the McCormack bill authorizing the construction of a $199,000,000 ship canal from Sayreville to Bordentown in New Jersey. The committee also attached an amendment relieving the state of any expense and placing the whole cost on the federal government.

The measure which was introduced by House Democratic Leader McCormack, Mass., would supply the "missing link" in the inland waterway system on the eastern seaboard. It was opposed by New Jersey on the ground that it would impose cost of right of way on the state treasury and would interfere with the water supply in the northern part of the state.

The committee also directed the army engineers to reexamine their survey of the Mississippi river and tributaries to determine whether the present channel should not be deepened from 9 to 12 feet.

No Comment On Radio Report Allied Hostages To Be Shot

Authoritative Sources In London Await Confirmation Of Paris Radio Report

(International News Service) LONDON, March 16.—Authoritative sources were silent today on the Paris radio warning that American and British hostages would be executed unless the Allies halt their devastating bombardment of Europe. Not having heard the broadcast, they said, they did not wish to comment until the report was confirmed. If the report is true, they said, it should emanate from Berlin rather than from Paris.

The Paris station's output is known to be unreliable and frequently the product of wishful thinking. In this instance, it was suggested, Paris may have hoped to dissuade the Allies from making further air attacks on Axis objectives in France.

It is also regarded as possible that the Paris broadcast may have been misquoted or that the news broadcaster erred in reading the statement, for none of the other Nazi-controlled broadcasters made a similar announcement. Nevertheless, it was recalled that similar methods of persuasion were employed by the Germans in their efforts to halt British commando raids and in the shattering of war prisoners.

Liquor Clerks Are Charged With Black Market Operations

Attorneys Declare Extortion Of Money From Philadelphia
Retailers Widespread

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Spokesman for organized taproom proprietors charged today that some Quaker City liquor clerks are taking advantage of the liquor shortage to operate the equivalent of a black market.

William J. Dunn, president, and Patrick J. McGee, attorney for the Philadelphia Retail Liquor License Association, declared the practice of extorting money from retailers has become widespread, adding that the state liquor board itself has made some unfair regulations. Clerks are demanding and getting from $1 to $13 per case as a premium for selling to taproom proprietors. Dunn and McGee charged quantities of scarce and choice liquors have been "earmarked" by the board, they asserted, for favored mid-city nightclubs and hotels.

COAL TRAIN: What are you doing? I'm keeping a thousand war plants running full blast!

OIL TRAIN: I've got a big job, too—getting 800,000 barrels of oil to the East every day!

COAL TRAIN: Before the war, I was busy enough, but now, whew! Why, every week, just to New England alone, I have to carry sixty-two hundred cars of coal that used to go by water.

OIL TRAIN: How's that?

COAL TRAIN: Submarines!

OIL TRAIN: Submarines gave me a job, too! Before Pearl Harbor, tankers carried 95% of the gas and oil to the East. I carried only about twelve thousand barrels daily.

COAL TRAIN: And now you haul eight hundred thousand!

OIL TRAIN: Yep! They said I couldn't do it, but I am! What's more, now that they have started carrying oil in converted box cars, I expect to do nine hundred thousand daily.

COAL TRAIN: That's really working!

OIL TRAIN: We're both working! I understand that over the B&O lines alone, nearly half the total freight tonnage is bituminous coal, petroleum and petroleum products.

COAL TRAIN: Working together for Victory—that's us!

Present Day Farm Problems Are Discussed By Pomona Grangers

Grangers from all subordinate granges of Lawrence county met with Pleasant Hill Grange in their hall on Saturday, March 13, for a full day meeting.

W. H. McCullough presided. The business took place during the morning and reports were heard from the officers and subordinate and juvenile granges. To the roll call, "Ways we can conserve farm equipment and home appliances," the officers suggested ways we can preserve equipment to insure maximum food production.

Miss Helen Workley, lecturer of Pleasant Hill Grange, extended a very cordial welcome and Mrs. J. A. Boak of Willard Grange responded and pointed out the fact the grange is a business organization and has been granted the privilege of holding meetings and must use our time wisely, always doing everything in our power for the war effort and the good of our country.

The resolutions committee submitted the following resolutions which were adopted by Pomona:

1. To urge congress to do all in their power to assist agriculture, labor and industry and keep as many skilled workers where they can serve their country best.
2. Went on record as being opposed to liquor, and urged the "liquor traffic" be abolished for the duration.
3. To request congress to re-enact the law of supply and demand.
4. Another resolution which blamed the shortage of meat and other foods on the effort of the AAA to reduce production by killing hogs and cattle and by plowing down crops rather than on hoarding and black markets was adopted. It also advocated the return of the law of supply and demand in place of regulated or controlled agriculture. The farmer wants a recent price but not subsidy.

The following report was given by the legislative committee and adopted by Pomona:

Favors

1. Pomona Grange recommends the enactment of senate bill No. 4 which seeks to amend the election code.
2. Favors the Ely school bill.
3. Requests public assistance be returned to the counties.

Opposes

1. Opposed to house bill No. 11 which seeks to liberalize the selling of oleomargarine by using color and passing it off for butter without being stamped.
2. Opposed to the bill that would suspend "local option voting."
3. Opposed to the house bills Nos. 180, 242 and 319 that would permit women to attend bars.
4. Opposed to the re-enactment of the one-cent gasoline tax for the general fund.
5. Opposed to house bill No. 10 that would permit Sunday bowling and bill 301 that would allow Sunday movies anywhere.

Aid Red Cross

Pomona voted to send a donation to the Red Cross war fund.

The afternoon session was opened by a concert of delightful patriotic music by the Scott township school under the direction of Mrs. S. A. Eakin.

"Today's News From Washington," concerning the farmer, was brought by J. A. Boak, chairman of the legislative committee. He pointed out questions being discussed in Washington now are: drafting of farm labor and the black market. He stated our constitution gives us a right to criticize, and we must keep check on what's going on and be ready to act. He also stressed we must ask our representatives for what we want and commend him when he votes right.

Mrs. Elmer Armstrong presented a very excellent plan for keeping home accounts, thus helping us to keep a check on spending, and enabling us to buy more war bonds.

Honors Given

The 25-year members were honored and presented by the worthy lecturer, Mrs. J. Francis Boak, who read the poem "Twenty-five Years Ago." Mrs. Harry Emery of Westfield Grange and Sanford Crable of East New Castle responded by telling of their grange experiences and what it means to become a "Silver Star" member. After the group sang the anniversary song, Mrs. J. G. Weingartner read "Our Grange Folks."

Attorney Gilbert Long gave an address on "Washington." He spoke of Washington as a farmer and a national leader. He stressed we must have a healthy regard for our historical leaders and pay honor while our nation is in a strife of war to settle whether we shall have a national sovereignty or a master race. He reminded us of the minute men in Washington's time who were always alert, worthy and ready to serve and ask us to guard against fair weather patriotism.

Eugene Fox of Pleasant Hill pleaded with vocal solo.

Dayton Speaks

Lewis Dayton, assistant farm agent, pointed out some problems affecting Lawrence county dairy-men and recommended some ways to speed up milk production. He stated the goal for this year for U. S. is 122 billion pounds of milk. Our allies must have food to enable them to continue fighting. Also we promised to feed oppressed countries, and food will help end war sooner, thus saving millions of our fighting boys.

Ways to speed up milk production are: 1. feed lots of hay; 2. good supplemental feed; 3. sufficient amount of grain; 4. 12 per cent protein foods; 5. plenty of fresh water; 6. rapid milking; 7. gentleness and kindness to cows.

He suggested putting on more cows if you have the facilities and room, if not take the best care of what you have.

After a short business meeting the grange closed in due form. The next Pomona meeting will be held at Willard Grange on June 2.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Several times the city OCD trial board has been told that guests in a hotel had failed to extinguish lights in a room during a blackout. Today a notice was transmitted from the OCD via the Lawrence County Council to the city, saying that, when proprietors post notices in all rooms notifying occupants when leaving to put out all lights the occupants will be held responsible for any violation during a blackout. However, the proprietor must certify under oath such notice has been posted in the room.

Here are the rules for guests: Put Out All Lights When Leaving This Room! Remember, whenever you leave this room, whether or not a blackout is in progress, you must turn out all lights. That is your responsibility as an occupant of this room.

When you hear a long steady blast on an air raid siren, horn or whistle, this is the blue signal—this means enemy planes probably coming this way. Extinguish all lights or draw your blackout curtains if your windows are so prepared. You may remain in your room or go about your affairs.

When you hear a series of short blasts on an air raid horn or whistle, or a rising or falling sound on the air raid siren—this is the red signal—this means enemy planes are overhead.

Keep your lights blacked out and go quietly and quickly to the designated shelter area or cover which has been selected for your safety.

When you hear a long steady blast on an air raid siren, horn or whistle following the red signal—this is the blue signal—this does not mean "all clear" but means a return to the blue period. Blackout continues. You may leave your shelter area and resume activity. Be on the alert for another red signal in case of another raid.

All clear. You will be notified when the all clear is announced. If you remain in your room, keep your radio turned on.

New class in air raid wardens, fire watchers and messengers will start in the Ben Franklin Junior high school Tuesday night. Recruits will be provided by the fourth and fifth wards.

Seventh ward auxiliary firemen will visit the control center tonight. Neshannock Township OCD Firemen will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at Fairview school.

This is where all the NEW Telephones are going!

There is a serious shortage of telephones. Manufacture of new instruments, except special telephones for combat use, has been stopped—to conserve metals urgently needed for America's tanks, planes, ships and shells.

Fortunately, we still have a supply of desk stand telephones. They have been reconditioned and they will give good service. Because of the shortage of handsets, this type of instrument will be used on more and more new installations.

While we know that most people would rather have the more modern handset, we feel sure everyone will agree that the kind of equipment we put on the battle lines is more important than the kind we get here at home. And the factories that formerly made peace-time telephones are now working day and night to give our armed forces the finest war-communication equipment in the world!

Registration For Training Classes

An opportunity for men and women of New Castle and the surrounding district to help win the war through production and at the same time train themselves for essential jobs is being offered tonight and tomorrow night when Westminster college holds registration for free war training classes here in the New Castle Senior high school from 7 to 9:30.

Scheduled to begin March 18, the classes are sponsored by the office of education and are offered by Westminster, with the cooperation of Carnegie Institute of Technology, and by Penn State college. In the seventh program for New Castle, Westminster will give courses in engineering drafting and descriptive geometry.

Many local men and women have received employment or have been given better position as a result of taking the courses offered during the past several years. Since the classes are based on a survey of specific industrial needs in this area, they are thoroughly practical in nature and equip the students for immediate employment in a war industry.

Classes will be held in the Senior high school two nights a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, for a period of 14 weeks. The only cost to students is a very small one for text materials and deposits on supplies.

Writer Of Classic War Letter To Son Given Navy Cross

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—One of the really human documents to come out of the war was the letter Lieut. Comdr. John J. Shea, of Arlington, Mass., wrote to his five-year-old son, Jackie, last June 28. Released after Shea, 45, was reported missing following the sinking of the aircraft carrier USS Wasp near the Solomons, Sept. 15, the letter received wide public attention.

It told Jackie the ideals for which his dad was fighting, spoke to him of the happy times he had planned for them both before the war and ended with the admonition that "if I don't get back, you will have to be mother's protector because you will be the only one she has."

On Monday the Navy Department announced the award of the navy cross for heroism to Commander Shea, who still is listed on navy roles as missing. Shea's wife at present is living at 36 Frank street, Cambridge, Mass.

War Fund Total Rising Slowly

Concerted Effort Being Made To Put Campaign
Over Top As Quickly As Possible

TOTAL TODAY IS AROUND $25,000

Reports submitted by workers on Monday show that the Red Cross war fund locally is lagging, compared to surrounding districts, the total here being but $25,000, while Ellwood City has exceeded its quota, as well as Pittsburgh. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, chairman of the campaign, appealed to workers to get out and get their districts cleaned up so that a comprehensive report can be submitted at the combined meeting of workers and Red Cross board members in the chapter house Thursday evening.

The quota for the county outside Ellwood City totals $76,000, and with the campaign more than half over already, there is still approximately $50,000 to be raised.

Dr. Galbreath, in urging workers to speed up the tempo of the campaign here today, pointed out the fact that if Pittsburgh, with a much greater territory to cover can complete their campaign as soon as they have, the same thing can be done here.

Among the large amounts reported today were $549.25 from the ninth precinct of the second ward, $619 from the Bell Telephone company, which is a partial report, $148.25 from the Craton school, $100 from the seventh ward and $200 from the east side, all partial reports.

In the Mahoning township district employees and the company at the Pittsburgh Limestone Co. have reported $394.24. Lake Erie Limestone Co. $225, Hillsville school $45 and residents of Hillsville and Carbon $155.68. This is a partial report, Mrs. Elizabeth Mikler, chairman, reports.

A partial report from the Bell Telephone company shows $519, and lesser gifts have been reported.

In 1784 eight bags of cotton grown in America were sent to Liverpool, England, but the customs officers seized them, claiming that so much cotton never could have come from America.

Defense Corps Drills Thursday

Members Will Make Preparation
For Competitive Shooting
Fever Announces

Capt. William E. Ferver, commander of the Pennsylvania Defense Corps Auxiliary, announced today that an important drill session of the Auxiliary will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in The Cathedral, when plans will be completed for competitive shooting by the members of the local unit.

With good weather approaching, drill will probably be started out of doors in the near future. There are still vacancies in the corps, and youths who expect to be inducted into the service in the future, particularly 17-year-old boys who will not be called for some time, are invited to join. There is also a place for older men who are anxious to serve on the home front, Capt. Ferver announces.

Rotarians See Industrial Film

Interesting Picture Depicts
Lumbering Industry On Large Scale

Members of the New Castle Rotary Club were entertained with the showing of a splendid industrial film, entitled "Trees and Houses", showing the lumbering industry in all its modern phases, at the weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon.

The film was secured through the interest of Rotarian Harry Newman, and was shown by Clarence M. England.

A tremendous amount of modern lumbering by the big companies is done mechanically, and the audience saw huge logs picked up by mechanical arms and twirled about as if they were straws. Making of plywood, and other branches of the industry also proved most interesting.

Election of officers will take place at the first meeting of the club in April. President William L. Beal announced.

A flying field commander offers one explanation of strange "accidents." He says student flyers like to nick one another's wings.

Senate To Get Proposal For Post-War Union

Resolution To Create Permanent United Nations Alliance To Be Presented

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The far-reaching resolution to create a permanent United Nations alliance to police the postwar world was to be thrust before the senate today with the promise of full debate over the measure making early action unlikely.

Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R) of Minn., was selected to introduce the resolution with Sen. Carl A. Hatch (D) of N. M., Lister Hill (D) of Ala., and Harold H. Burton (R) of Ohio as co-sponsors.

With some senators already bitterly criticizing the move to commit the United States in advance upon some terms of peace, sponsors of the proposal said they would not rush a decision in the senate.

The resolution goes to the senate foreign relations committee, Sen. Tom Connally (D) of Texas, who expressed dissatisfaction with some phases of the proposal, indicated that preliminary consideration may begin within two weeks, but a committee decision may be delayed. Connally is chairman of the committee.

The proposal, endorsed in principle by the president, calls upon the United States to open conferences with United Nations to form an organization to aid in prosecution of the war, administer re-occupied territory, rehabilitate peoples, establish machinery for peaceful settlement of disputes and create a United Nations military force to keep the peace of the world.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 16.—Greek partisans have destroyed a chemical factory and defeated Italian troops, the British radio reported today.

In reprisal several hundred civilians were murdered by the Germans and Italians, the broadcast said, according to CBS.

Increased unrest in Greece is reported in London today. The broadcast said, "Near Ekaterini, in the district of Salonika, a strong formation of partisans recently destroyed a chemical factory. The Germans sent a battalion of regular troops to the scene and murdered 47 innocent persons. Under the pretext that the attack had been prepared from Salonika, another 56 hostages from Salonika also were executed."

Shipworkers Riot When 'Indecent' Show Is Stopped

Inside Of Theatre Wrecked By 700 Shipyard Men Demanding Money Back

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Me., March 16.—Approximately 700 shipyard workers attending an early morning show virtually wrecked the interior of a theatre today when police stopped the performance charging it was indecent.

During a battle between the shipyard workers and local and service police two men were arrested. None of the "battlers" was injured although several suffered slight bruises in banging at doors and windows.

The shipyard men who had "hired the house for a tag affair" demanded their money back when the show was stopped. When it was refused to smash windows and doors.

The two men arrested told police chief Harold Maguire that they paid $150 each. The show, they said, was stopped after a motion picture and a couple of dances went on.

The theatre was emptied in a few minutes but the shipyard workers and service patrols milled around the outside for some time. Two pumps were taken to the scene and held in readiness as several battles crashed against the front of the building.

The crowd dispersed after Maguire arranged for a delegation of workers to interview the theatre manager with a view to return of the admission fees.

Three Killed In Plane Crashes In Delaware County

Bomber Smashes Trees, Explodes Near Chester; Other Plane Crashes In Mist

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., March 16.—Three men and possibly four or more were reported killed shortly before noon today in two airplane crashes in Delaware county.

One of the planes, a twin-motored bomber, smashed into a grove of trees and was ripped to pieces near Naaman's creek road at Boothwyn, on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware-Pennsylvania line six miles below Chester. There was a terrific explosion as the plane disintegrated and buried its nose in the ground.

One body—that of a decapitated young lieutenant—was found near the wreckage and two parachutes were discovered nearby.

According to reports, the second plane, believed to have been out searching for the other, crashed in a heavy mist at Newton Square, at the opposite end of the county. Two airmen were said to have been killed.

Mrs. Nellie Howard witnessed the crash of the two-motored bombers. Its motors were sputtering as it passed over Lawncroft cemetery and smashed into the tree tops, Mrs. Howard said. Had it been but 10 feet higher, it would have missed the trees.

Following a preliminary investigation, the navy issued this statement:

"There was a navy plane crash outside of Chester this morning, apparently due to weather conditions. The navy is investigating but is unable to report further details at this time."

Four Lose Lives In Mercy Flight

(International News Service)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 16.—A mercy flight of an Army training plane from Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, ended yesterday in death for the plane's four-man crew, it was revealed today.

The plane was searching for another airship, carrying 20 persons and reported missing between Albuquerque and Tucson, Ariz., Kirtland Field officers said. They said they believed the report of the other missing plane might be erroneous.

Three pairs for each person means Willie will get two pair for winter and go barefoot in summer; Dad will get one pair and Mother six.

Apartment House Has Five Fires In Last Six Days

Pittsburgh Firemen Tired Beating Path To Same Address; Police Baffled

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—Members of the fire department today felt like parking their trucks in front of 124 Progress Street on the Northside and just wait for the next blaze to break out.

They've already trod a beaten path to that apartment house where five separate fires have broken out in the last six days, including three in one day.

Police are ready to throw in the towel too, because less than an hour after they jailed a man they thought was starting the fires a new blaze broke out in a building less than 100 feet away from the Progress Street house.

The "Please don't burn my house down" drama (five acts) started last Wednesday when a mattress in a second floor apartment house caught fire.

Sunday night fires began successively in the cellar, the kitchen and the bathroom of Walter Werner's apartment in the same building. Yesterday a fifth fire started in the same mattress which initiated the series.

WOULD CREATE POLICE FORCE TO PATROL WORLD

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R) of Minn., today introduced in the senate the much discussed resolution calling upon the United Nations to set up a permanent organization to police the world.

Ball put the resolution, which virtually would establish a new league of nations, before the senate with the statement that "it is the best hope for maintaining world peace and stability after the war."

Ball's proposal, co-sponsored by Sens. Hill (D) Ala., Barton (R) Ohio, Hatch (D) N. Mex., is certain to provoke prolonged and bitter debate which will rival, if not exceed, the memorable contest over the league of nations at the end of World War I.

Senate leaders predict that there will be no early action on the resolution.

'Bo' Joins Marines! Leaves With Sgt. Dean

(International News Service)

"Bo," a beautiful dog of the Dalmatian breed, is believed to be the first dog to have been taken to join the Marines! He has left with Sgt. John Dean for Philadelphia, where he will be given five weeks' training and from there will join the Coast Guard for active duty.

"Bo," raised from a mere puppy by his mistress, Grace, and Kathryn Trick, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Trick of R. D. 3, Edgewood Acres, is now 15 months old, and is excellent in doing his daily routine of tricks. His breed is better known as a coach dog.

While the pet animal is already greatly missed by his owners, they feel confident he will be an asset to Uncle Sam in saving lives of our boys in uniform on the front.

APRIL RATION COUPONS WILL REMAIN SAME

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Office of Price Administration today announced that the April total of ration points will remain at the March level of 48.

There will be no general liberalization of point values for processed items such as was hinted earlier, officials indicated. Deputy OPA Administrator Paul M. O'Leary has said that lower values may be set for some commodities but that the point "cost" of others on which demand is high and supply is low may be raised.

Blue stamps lettered D, E and F in the new war ration book two—totaling 48 points—will be good for purchase of canned, frozen, bottled and dried foods from March 25 through April 30. Stamps A, B and C are now in use but will be invalid after March 31.

Consumers will be permitted to spend April stamps during the last week of March to make the best possible use of any remaining March stamps of small denominations. But OPA warned them to budget their April points carefully to avoid falling short near the end of the month.

To Investigate Need For Coffee, Sugar Rationing

'Cotton Ed' Smith And Committee To Question South Americans On Supply And Shipping

By HORACE M. COATS
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Sen. Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D) S. C., on Monday said his agriculture subcommittee will inaugurate a searching inquiry into coffee and sugar rationing this week.

"We are informed there is a supply of coffee available to provide for the needs of the United States for two years," the fiery anti-New Dealer said.

"Our committee wants to find out what the facilities are for getting that supply here, why it isn't being shipped here, and why the necessity for rationing these two commodities."

Smith, who also is chairman of the senate agriculture committee, said that representatives of the Brazilian government, Cuban representatives to the United States and the Puerto Rican resident commissioner in Washington will be asked to appear before the committee to give the facts about coffee and sugar production and supply in their countries.

After the appearance of these witnesses the committee will summon Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown and Agriculture Secretary Claude L. Wickard along with prominent wholesalers and retailers of both commodities.

"We are going into all the whys and wherefores of rationing," Smith said.

Smith heads the subcommittee which is engaged in an investigation of food production and prices from the ground to the consumer's table. As chairman he reiterated his determination to seek re-establishment of the distribution of free seeds.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.

A LETTER OF THANKS

By the time this reaches the paper I'll be in Philadelphia, ready to start on a new assignment. It is with regret that I am leaving New Castle. My tour of duty here has been a success. This I owe to the splendid cooperation that I received from the people of New Castle. To each and every one of them I wish to convey my thanks. To the parents of the men I have enlisted, I wish their boys Godspeed and a safe return home.

To do a good job as a recruiter, a man must hustle day and night. Sometimes you make a few mistakes. I was no exception, but in all my work and time, I had one thought in mind, our country and the Marine Corps.

I wish to thank The News for their space and splendid articles, for without them, we would be unable to bring to the public, the outstanding features and opportunities that are available for the young man who enlists in the U. S. Marine Corps.

The people of New Castle will continue to back the boys up 100 per cent as they have always done. You are proud of the men who are serving from here. They are just as proud of you who are serving back here in different ways to help win the war. The Marine office under the command of Sgt. Michael Shea, I know will continue to give you the courteous treatment, which we tried to maintain at all times. Thanks again.

Sincerely,
SGT. JOHNNY DEAN,

President Grateful For Sons' Defense

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Rep. Lanham (D) Tex., on Monday received a brief note of thanks from President Roosevelt for reading to the house the dramatic letter written by Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt answering attacks on the war records of the four sons of the president.

Young Roosevelt's letter was written in North Africa and addressed to Lanham. It answered attacks by Rep. Lambertson (R) Kan., who charged that the Roosevelt boys were being "jerked" from combat duty. Elliott called attention to the fact that he is serving in North Africa. James, a marine colonel had a splendid record in the southwest Pacific fighting and that John and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., are at sea with the navy.

Teacher Salary Raising Measure Is Introduced

By JOHN PAGET

HARRISBURG, March 16.—Annual cost of living salary increases ranging between $100 and $300 for Pennsylvania's 63,000 school teachers were proposed today although the legislature failed to indicate what method would be adopted to raise more than $10,000,000 a year to carry out the plan.

The administration-supported measure, co-sponsored by Republican representatives, Fred P. Hare, Jr., of Somerset, and Robert J. Condit, of Lackawanna, would affect all teachers who were certified by local school authorities as being on record during the 1942-43 school year.

Rep. Reuben E. Cohen (D) Philadelphia, the minority floor leader, said Democrats would fight any attempt by the G. O. P. majority to impose an amusement and general sales tax to raise the money to carry the program through.

He claimed that despite Gov. Edward Martin's "invitation" for legislators to discuss budget recommendations and other state problems, the Democratic minority leaders have not been asked to attend any conferences.

Rates Shower Bath Above 25 Missions Flown Over Burma

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 16.—The fact that he had rigged up the only shower bath in his camp in India apparently was of far more importance to Capt. Richard A. Knobloch, 24-year-old army pilot from Fort Sheridan, Ill., than his raids over Burma.

His father, William F. Knobloch, chief civilian operating engineer at Fort Sheridan, said Monday he had received a letter from Richard in which his son related proudly how he had contrived the shower bath from an old oil drum and pipes salvaged from a damaged plane.

Then he added casually, possibly as an afterthought, that he had participated in 25 missions over Burma and had put in 100 combat hours. On his last trip, he said, he and his comrades had dropped more than three tons of bombs.

Four Implicated In Theft Of Gas Coupons Silent

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Two patrolmen, a war plant worker and a feminine clerk of a Philadelphia rationing board offered "no defense" Monday in federal court to charges of conspiracy in connection with the theft of coupons for upwards of 33,000 gallons of gasoline.

Police said Mrs. Virginia A. Crankshaw, "lifted" the coupons while working at the rationing board. Her husband, Patrolman John A. Crankshaw, allegedly sold them to Patrolman John W. Price, to Elmer K. Grindrod, a defense worker, and others.

They will be sentenced on Thursday by Judge J. Cullen Ganey.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES are "Stepping Stones" from VICTORY GARDEN to HEALTH!

It won't be long now until American people will be using every available plot of ground to plant their Victory Gardens in. It will be a new experience for many, but gardening on a small scale is not too difficult and the lucky housewife who is fortunate enough to own electrical appliances in her kitchen finds it a pleasure to store away her supply of vegetables and fruits to assure her family's continued good health.

ELECTRICITY will play a big part in the home canning operation:

The ELECTRIC WATERHEATER will provide warm water for removing grit, sand and dirt quickly from vegetables—yet will not destroy vitamins or minerals. It will also lighten the task of washing glasses and jars by providing quantities of hot water.

The ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR will be a big help too. If you find that you have more vegetables on hand than you can put up... just wash and trim the surplus vegetables and place them in the refrigerator. With proper refrigeration, they will remain fresh until you are ready to can them.

The ELECTRIC RANGE is the greatest help of all. Nature provides healthful and essential vitamins in your gardening products, but you can be robbed of their benefits by improper cooking. Vitamin content and full natural flavor are not "boiled out" with electric cooking because large quantities of water are not needed to prevent scorching. . . . You'll find that by canning electrically, you will be able to give vitamin-rich foods to your family during the winter months.

More New Bills Are Anticipated

Expect Probably 200 More In State Legislature Despite Deadline Expiration

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 16.—Although the deadline expired last night for the introduction of new legislation, approximately 200 more bills were expected this week because clerks were forced to spread the job of referring measures to committees over several days.

More than 225 bills were introduced last night before the deadline and Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, (R) Lehigh Republican floor leader, said approximately the same number would be released today and tomorrow. In the 10 weeks of legislative activity, more than 1250 bills have been sponsored. Latest bills include proposals to:

Remove clubs from the liquor license quota law; permit teachers to hold classroom jobs without having "practice" during college terms; provide for scholarships for war veterans; transfer the appointments of merchantile and inheritance tax collectors from the auditor general's department to the secretary of revenue; levy a $100 fine for trespassing on victory gardens; license slot machines and earmark the revenue for allocation to crippled children's hospitals; authorize free bus and street railway service to members of the armed forces; establish child care centers for children under 14 years of age with the supervision of the state defense council; exempt persons over 50 years of age from fishing license fees; abolish real estate taxes levied to pay school salaries; authorize payments of occupational disease benefits to school teachers and certain employees suffering from nervous disorders and tuberculosis; establish vice-squads to police public places and to eliminate bawdy houses.

(Special To The News)

MERCER, March 16.—The Brandy Springs Community Park association reports a good turnout Thursday for the first attempt toward rehabilitating the park site into a summer recreation spot for the local community. Several school children and adults helped clear away underbrush and debris from around the spring, under the supervision of John Robinson.

AROUND CITY HALL

Reports which reached city hall today stated that considerable garbage could be seen in rear yards. . . . Within a few weeks the city painters will mark off new safety lines in public streets. . . . No release of rail watchmen will be permitted here until council has indicated unless they will be returned to the job if traffic warrants.

With the city forging ahead and mammoth industrial concerns having located here it is likely that the voters will give close scrutiny to those who wish to govern the city. New Castle council recently increased the mayor's annual wage to $4,000 and that of council to $3,500, which should be an incentive for qualified men.

More than 1,400 men and women who handle food and beverage in this city have been examined in the city laboratory. This was for the purpose of protecting the health of the community. It is likely that a close check will be maintained and those who fall through negligence or obstinacy to take the test will be discovered.

City hall roster of employees has grown during the past dozen years. . . . As soon as weather conditions become right improvements will get under way at Cascade Park which will be the community's "playground" this summer. With good bus service to the East Side a revival of the days when the park enjoyed big crowds daily may return.

Double Killer Paroled To Aid Army Service

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Richard Colyar, 52-year-old confessed double killer, has been freed from San Quentin and is in the army, because his abilities were considered vital to the war, the California State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles announced today.

Colyar's parole was made at the specific request of army officials who saw some of his murals which decorate hospital walls at San Quentin, where the former Los Angeles artist was serving a sentence for the 1933 killing of his wife, Anne Belle Colyar, and her sister, Mrs. William Nunn.

The artist murderer now at work at an undersigned army camp in the west, applying the camouflage trick he learned inside San Quentin's walls.

The army's appeal for Colyar's release was made after officials had interviewed him on a camouflage technique upon which he was working, which military camouflage experts realized was of considerable value.

The parole was soon effected, after the army had appealed to the board of prison terms and paroles and to Gov. Earl Warren.

Mickey Rooney Is Turned Down

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—Mickey Rooney, faced in recent months with the prospect of being drafted, was free today to pursue the even tenor of his movie career.

The armed services, it was learned, turned him down as physically unfit for induction.

The decision was made at the conclusion of a physical examination. The young actor's case has gone back to his Westwood draft board for reclassification.

Rooney's deferment as an essential worker had been requested by his studio, M-G-M. The results of the physical examination disposed of the matter.

Relapse Sends Ross To Hospital

Marine Hero Recuparating From Recurrence Of Guadalcanal Malaria

ARDUOUS SCHEDULE BLAMED FOR LETDOWN

NEW YORK, March 16.—The sturdy constitution that sustained Corporal Barney Ross for several years as a boxing champion and in the Jap-infested jungle of Guadalcanal today was caused upon for another demonstration of its durability.

The "fighting marine" whose heroism in the Solomons earned him national acclaim was recuperating in the navy hospital in St. Albans from a recurrence of the malaria he contracted on Guadalcanal.

His private physician describes his condition as "fair" and attributed Corporal Ross' relapse to the arduous schedule of engagements he has fulfilled since returning to New York last Friday.

He was scheduled to appear at the Red Cross rally in Madison Square Garden last night but became ill with fever in his hotel suite and was rushed to the hospital.

Wife Will Substitute

In his stead his pretty wife Catherine appeared at the rally to deliver the address that her husband had prepared.

Corporal Ross has received a welcome such as is accorded only to heroes since his arrival. His desire to appear wherever possible to plead for an all-out war effort undoubtedly brought on the weakness that led to his relapse.

Before he became ill yesterday Ross had spoken to 4,000 employees of the New York Life Insurance Company at a Red Cross rally in the lobby of the company's building.

It was when he returned to his hotel room that the fighter hero admitted that he was feeling the effects of the malaria he incurred while battling Japs in the Solomons.

Every grade school in the city has a team entered in the tournament except Pollock. This will mean five first round games, two second round games with a bye, one third round game with a bye and the championship decided in the fourth game.

All the plans have not been fully developed yet but it is thought most of the games will be played in the Rose Avenue gymnasium. A handsome cup will be offered to the championship team with the team winning it three years in a row getting permanent possession.

Training Camp Stuff 'n' Things

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 16.—Manager Leo Durocher today is seriously considering shifting Billy Herman, a fixture at second base, to third for the Dodgers during the 1943 season.

The "Lip" had Herman cover the third sack during the club's initial workout yesterday.

ASBURY PARK, N. J.—Ernie Bonham today remained the only unsigned member of the New York Yankee pitching department.

Three pitchers, Johnny Lindell, Alvey Donald and Spurgeon Chandler, accepted terms yesterday.

Only nine players participated in yesterday's opening workout.

CAIRO, Ill.—Racing against time in preparation for defense of their title as world champions, the St. Louis Cardinals faced another high workout today.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—Although spring training for the St. Louis Browns still was confined to the calisthenics stage, Manager Luke Sewell promised his charges today they would face hard workouts next week. Twelve players were on hand including outfielder Glenn McGuinn, recently reclassified 1-A in the draft.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Cincinnati Reds today were nursing two opening day spring training casualties, Pitcher Bucky Walters, who turned his ankle in attempting to leap a track hurdle and John Conway, rookie infielder who was ordered to bed with a fever brought on by a heavy cold. A squad of 33 went through opening day paces under the direction of Manager Bill McKechnie.

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Lou Bon-dreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, was confident today his squad could get into good physical condition in the Purdue university fieldhouse and then play its way into shape during the 15 exhibition games.

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—A set of rigid training rules that bars poker playing was inaugurated today by Manager Steve O'Neill as the Detroit Tigers faced their second day of spring training. Violation of the poker play rule, O'Neill said, would result in a $500 fine. Rudy York, hard-hitting first baseman, reported at camp yesterday but was told by O'Neill he could not take part in the drill until he had signed his contract.

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Manager Ossie Bluege of the Washington Senators planned to step up the training pace today after his players opened the training season yesterday with a mild workout. He hoped he would get some regular starters from among five rookie hurlers, Milton Haffner, Owen Schetz, Mike Condon, Edward Pyle and Jim Metz.

Notes scribbled on paper napkins:

Besides hitting the B WPIAL jack pot, New Wilmington high scored most of the tourney side issues. In Norbert Borowicz, the college town's fielded the smoothest and most valuable player in both classics. His selection was unanimous...

Offensively, the blue and gold was No. 1 on the A and B parade with 194 points for a 48.5 percentage. Defensively, the Eagleson students allowed 112 markers for a 28-point average, topping the field in either affair...

Kenny "Skyscraper" Cathcart, playing the finale with an aching left knee, nevertheless, added 12 points to run his tourney total to 74. The six foot six star was first in this department. He also posted the tourney high for one game—24 points...

Coach John Eagleson, by the way, has established a mark which should stand the test for years. In the nine year history of the B Division, the Ne-Ca-Hi product has developed

Athletics To Open Season On April 20

Inaugurate Major League Season Against Washington In Capital

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Two opening day appearances were on the 1943 schedule for the Athletics today.

The A's will inaugurate the Big League season when they meet Washington in the nation's capital April 20. The next day they make their home debut in the first game at Shibe Park against the Boston Red Sox.

Two holiday doubleheaders were in the cards for the home fans—Decoration Day and Labor Day.

In recent years promoters apparently have gotten away from staging boxing bouts on St. Patrick's night, and speaking of this city, it might not be amiss to say there have been some good Irish lads here. Now only a few days ago one of 'em was telling about another good one of yesterday. The man speaking was our friend Tom Kennedy.

"You oughta been born before you were" said Tom "and you would have seen some good boys. And any time you see Jim Casey you see a boy who could handle himself. I'm speakin' of him now because he was first to come to my mind" following which the oldest of the East Side came through with some tales of other old-time local fights and the Irish.

Later on came Dime, Brannigan, McMahon, Bresnahan and Terry Mitchell of Brooklyn, there also was Mickie Forkins and Joe Dalley of Warren and Erie, respectively. However in recent years the Irish have not been taking to pugilism as they did two score years ago. They have drifted into other branches but have been scoring successfully.

Tomorrow is St. Patrick's day. Well, a lot of other sons of those sons of Old Erin who came here have returned to Old Erin, together with the sons of others who came from lands other than Erin. They are there getting ready to bloody Hitler's nose. It may be they'll bloody it so well they may all return by St. Patrick's day, 1944. Here's hoping.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
"BIG RED'S" gonna have an other birthday, March 29—his 26th.

There'll be the usual celebration at Faraway Farm, north of Lexington, Ky., with all "Big Red's" friends and a few of his many sons and daughters present.

Greatest Thoroughbred

They'll all be paying homage to the greatest thoroughbred ever to race on the American turf—Man O' War, or, as he is affectionately called, "Big Red."

Defeated only once in two years of racing against the best horses in America, Man O' War long has been in stud. Now, however, attention is to an announcement from Lexington, the famous horse, sire of two Kentucky Derby winners and of more than 250 sons and daughters whose winnings have amounted to over $3,000,000, will be retired from stud duty immediately.

Two Great Years

Man O' War did all his racing in two years, 1919 and 1920. But what a two-year career!

Entered in 10 races in 1919, Man O' War won all but one, that an upset, oddly enough. Upset. Later, however, the king of the turf beat Upset by six lengths.

In 1920, Man O' War, as a three-year-old, started 11 times. He won all 11 races! His winnings totaled $166,140 that year.

Man O' War set five records in 1920, from one mile to one and five-eighths. When he ran in the Lawrence Realization in 1920 he was the shortest-priced winner of all time, one to 100!

Bought For $5,000

Purchased as a yearling by Samuel D. Riddle for $5,000 at the Saratoga sales in 1918, Man O' War was the son of Fair Play—Mahubah.

Although not a Kentucky Derby winner, himself, Man O' War sired two sons who did romp home first in the greatest of all turf classics, Clyde Van Dusen, winner of the 1925 event, and War Admiral, the 1937 champion.

Savage, who was 20, joined the Mackmen last summer as a relief hurler. Caligiuri, 23, came to the A's from their Wilmington farm team in 1941. He lost three and won none last season. Nineteen-year-old Yankowski played the tailend of last year's season acting in six games.

Connie announced that 11 pitchers will report to the Athletics training camp at Wilmington next Monday. Infielders and outfielders are not due until March 24, he added, pointing out that the A's will be the last major team to begin spring training.

Henry Armstrong Is En Route East

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Because of train delays, Henry Armstrong today was scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia from the west coast, 24 hours later than expected.

The negro welterweight will begin training immediately for his 10-round bout with Wilmington's Al Tribiani at Convention hall Monday, according to Promoter Herman Taylor.

Armstrong, whose comeback trail has been marked with 11 knockouts and four decisions in 15 starts, will be making his first appearance in the East since his retirement from the ring two years ago.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Begorra, tomorrow is St. Patrick's day, and me mind is wanderin' back to the days when everybody, Dutch, English, Welsh or whatnot, wore a piece of green ribbon or a shamrock to display their regard for the folk who left Erin to come here and help others make our nation the great country it truly is.

Ah, yes, those were the days when Paddy was a "navvy" on the railroad, Mickey picked slat in a breaker, and Danny drove a mule in the mine, and Old Man Gilligan had his son in school because he saved a few pennies. It was on St. Patrick's day one would awaken, spatter a wee bit o' water on his face and devour potatoes and fishes.

After chanting "Potatoes and Fishes Are Very Good Fishes on St. Patrick's Day in the Mornin'" one would glance furtively at sister's green hair ribbons and snip, off would come an inch or two, which would be tied in a buttonhole. And if this was what usually occurred in the mornin' on such a day, what about tonight?

During some of them we have watched lonesome lads with gloves belabor each other while the crowd ranted and cheered, especially when the lad wearin' the belt of green had the best of the fightin'. It was on St. Patrick's night that the name of Sullivan, Casey, Finnegan, McGuire, Hanlon, McGovern or Sheridan went over.

In recent years promoters apparently have gotten away from staging boxing bouts on St. Patrick's night, and speaking of this city, it might not be amiss to say there have been some good Irish lads here. Now only a few days ago one of 'em was telling about another good one of yesterday. The man speaking was our friend Tom Kennedy.

MACK SINGING 'ARMY BLUES'

Athletics Soon Lose Savage And Yankowski; Caligiuri Is Already Inducted

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Connie Mack was singing the "army blues" once again today following announcement that three more of his Athletics were trading in their baseball togs for Uncle Sam's khaki.

With Pitcher Fred Caligiuri already inducted and Pitcher Bob Savage and Catcher George Yankowski due to enter the army shortly, "that makes 23 men to go into the service from my team," baseball's "grand old man" said. "Ballplayers are not going to be as easy to get as they have been in the past. But we'll have to get along as best we can."

All Three Youtis

Savage, who was 20, joined the Mackmen last summer as a relief hurler. Caligiuri, 23, came to the A's from their Wilmington farm team in 1941. He lost three and won none last season. Nineteen-year-old Yankowski played the tailend of last year's season acting in six games.

Connie announced that 11 pitchers will report to the Athletics training camp at Wilmington next Monday. Infielders and outfielders are not due until March 24, he added, pointing out that the A's will be the last major team to begin spring training.

The negro welterweight will begin training immediately for his 10-round bout with Wilmington's Al Tribiani at Convention hall Monday, according to Promoter Herman Taylor.

Armstrong, whose comeback trail has been marked with 11 knockouts and four decisions in 15 starts, will be making his first appearance in the East since his retirement from the ring two years ago.

Epworths Fail To Match Saints' Last Period Rally

Rivals Play Second Of Three Game Series Wednesday Night At 8; Pete Zingaro, Home On Furlough, Stars For Winners With Amazing One-Man Show; Jimmy Dart Shines For Losers; Game One Of Best Played On Y. Court In Years.

Aided immeasurably by two service men home on furlough—Pete Zingaro and "Rags" Gennock—a tireless St. Vitus quint jelled an astute Epworth Methodist aggregation, 34-32, in the New Castle Church league championship series opener Monday on the Y boards.

Among the hundreds of games played on the downtown court, last night's tilt rates a place with the cleverest basketball exhibitions.

Play Is Fierce

Play was fierce throughout the 32-minute fray as the rivals chased up and down the hardwood like 10 greahounds.

Passing was high grade and the defenses were tight, save in the final minutes when the opponents were running reek and neck.

With less than four minutes left, the Saints built a 32-26 edge which looked as big as an elephant. Suddenly Dart wiggled free under the ring for a deuce and Fred Wimer popped a pretty one-lander from outside the foul circle.

Sammy DeLillo, grabbing Gennock's pass, spun around inside the foul circle and pocketed a deuce to boost the Saints' margin, 34-30. With the clock running out, "Zee" Wainio, electrified the capacity crowd by scoring with his back to the bucket.

The Saints took the ball out of bounds and whipped it around until the final whistle sounded.

Play Is Even

For close to three and a half quarters, the teams played on even terms, neither being able to build a comfortable lead. In the first five minutes, the clubs couldn't even buy a fielder. Connini finally sent the ball through, giving the St. Vitus club a 5-3 edge as the first closed.

Both defenses became more porous in the second as the opponents exchanged 12 buckets. With Reed, Dart and Wainio hitting the range twice apiece, the Epworths walked off with a 20-18 advantage. Pete Zingaro, the smoothest athlete on the floor, had eight of the St. Vitus 18 markers as the half closed.

Zingaro Leaves Game

Zingaro, Calazza and Gennock, deuced in the third while Wimer contributed the only deuce of the period for the Epworths. St. Vitus held a 24-23 edge as the stanza ended, but their chances dropped immensely as Zingaro committed his fourth personal a few seconds before the chukker closed.

St. Vitus managed to gain a six-point edge, however, in the final three and a half. The Epworths kept pitching but fell short of the mark. Substitute DeLillo sparked the Saints' last period drive with a pair of fielders.

The play of Zingaro, a member of the air corps, topped the field. Unmindful of the fact that he had donated a point of blood less than three hours before game time, the rugged Zingaro staged a one-man show that amazed the gallery. He was all over the play on defense and guided the offense with a 10-point shower.

"Rags" Gennock was another standout, as was Sammy Bulah, the team's compass.

Dart Stars

The Epworths were in the game up to their necks. Jimmy Dart was the losers' sparkplug, defensively as well as offensively. He bucketed 10 points. Wimer was flashy, too, contributing nine points and nearly pulled the setto out of the fire.

St. Vitus can cop the crown by defeating the Epworths Wednesday night. The clash starts at 8 o'clock.

★ A significant sign of the times is the increasing importance of the "Society Brand" label. More men than ever before now turn to this little "sign" of quality before buying clothes. And because the name "Society Brand" has been identified for more than 40 years with top-flight styling, top-notch fabrics, and skilled tailoring, insistence upon seeing this name is invariably the first step in every purchase of a suit or topcoat at this store.

Fire Arms Classes Meet In Cathedral

Session Starts At 7:30 Tonight; Pupils Fire Opening Shots

Sportsmen's Revolver club members will hold their weekly session in the Cathedral tonight at 7:30. Secretary Charles H. Schweinsberg today announced that persons interested in the small arms training course sponsored by the organization are invited to attend. A special meeting will be held during the evening.

Last week, members of the newly formed class heard the crack of a pistol and smelled powder smoke for the first time. Following the customary lectures, demonstrations and exercises, the pupils assembled on the firing line.

Firing at this stage of instruction was confined to off-hand position, most commonly used military position. In the lessons preceding the firing, the class had learned the function of the pistol and important parts of the pistol and cartridge, safety habits, aiming and practical use of the hand gun.

With that as a start the students will find the tempo of their actual firing speeded up steadily during the remaining nine sessions. Still confronting them in this course of basic military marksmanship are the more difficult tricks of gun care, sight adjustment, and double action.

Pittsburgh Buys 5 Young Players

Club Informed That Stewart And Wilkie Will Remain In Defense Work

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 16.—Pittsburgh Pirates today announced purchase of five young players from the Harrisburg club of the class C Interstate league, and the signing of infielder James Cullumano of Albany in the Eastern league.

The quietest bought from Harrisburg is made up of Shortstop Frank Zak, Pitcher Alfred Jarlett, Pitcher Steve Korpe, infielder Pete Castiglione and Pitcher Lee Howard. Jarlett and Korpe are right-handers, while Howard is a southpaw.

Three In Army
Korpe, Castiglione and Howard are in the armed forces and will be transferred to the Pirates' national defense list. The other two men are to join the Pirates immediately, and will report with the remainder of the squad at Muncie, Ind., tomorrow.

Cullumano came from Albany for a fixed sum, the Pirates announced. He played for Augusta, Ga., in the Sally league last year under Albany option, and batted an impressive .322.

Addition of the new players offsets somewhat the loss of Outfielder Eddie Stewart and Pitcher Alden Wilkie, who advised the ball club that they were remaining in defense work on the west coast for the present, and would not report for spring training tomorrow.

Rudy York Signs Detroit Contract

(International News Service) EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 16.—Rudy York, the last holdout, today had signed a 1943 contract and the Detroit Tigers entered their second day of spring training at full strength.

York, who watched the initial workout yesterday from the stands, came to terms late yesterday afternoon. Dixie Parsons, first string catcher who came from Beaumont, Tex., unsigned, put his name on the line earlier in the day.

Meanwhile, manager Steve O'Neill today inaugurated a rigid set of training rules which bars poker playing. A violation of the no-poker rule will result in a $500 fine, O'Neill said.

Jeff Heath Reiects 2nd Cleveland Offer

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, March 16.—Jeff Heath, husky Cleveland Indian outfielder, has rejected a second contract and is a holdout, vice-president Roger Peckinpaugh revealed today.

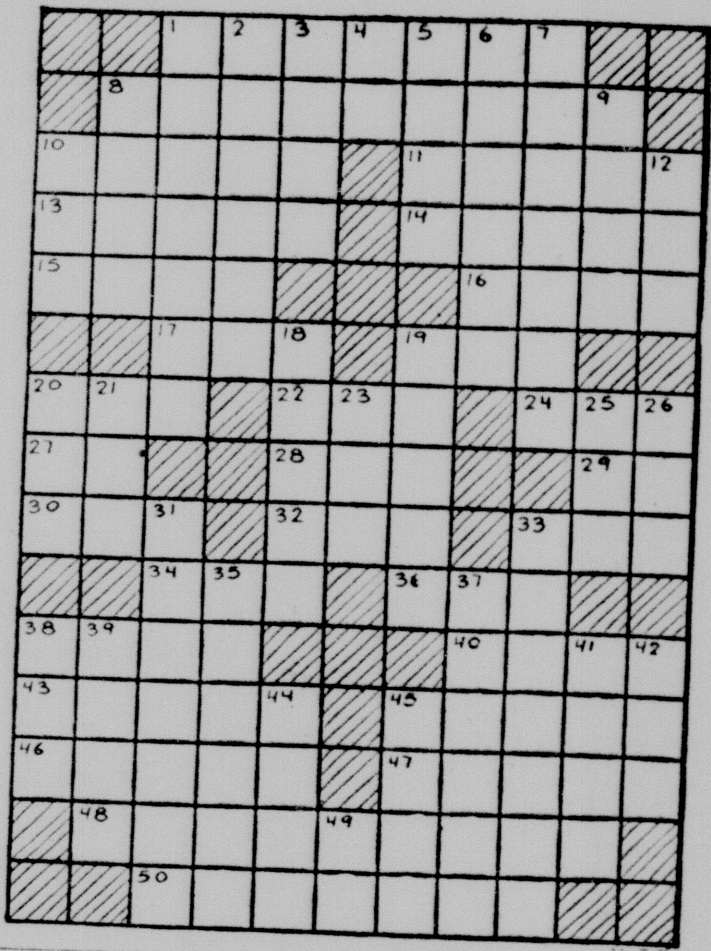

The temperamental Indian gardener termed his first contract "penitential" and was then offered a substantially better one by Peckinpaugh who termed it a "very fair contract."

"We have made Jeff our final offer and the next move is up to him," Peckinpaugh said.

Phillies Undergo Opening Workout

Hershey Playing Field Well Suited; Owner Cox Arrives Wednesday

(International News Service) HERSHEY, Pa., March 16.—A small squad of endgame Phillies was prepared to loosen the kinks from knobby muscles today following the first workout of the season on Hershey's baseball diamond. Manager Buck Harris and Trainer Harold Bruce put a crew of 11 athletes through the initial paces.

Preparation for the coming season started with a brisk half-hour of calisthenics that will be increased today. The playing field, although soggy in spots, was well suited for the purpose, and according to Manager Harris, everything was quite satisfactory.

Podajny-Johnson Drill
Among those taking part in yesterday's brief session were Pitcher Johnny Podajny and the veteran St. Johnson, holdovers from last season, and Rookies Johnny Miller and Dale Mathewson. Infielders Merrill May and Danny Murtagh, Outfielders Danny Litwiler and Catcher Mickey Livingston.

William Cox, who heads the syndicate that recently purchased the ball team, is expected in Hershey on Wednesday. He was delayed in New York due to his mother's illness.

Stickel Is Named Pitt Track Coach

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 16.—Harold Stickel, of nearby McKees Rocks, one of the most brilliant end stars in Pitt history, was named today as the track coach of the 1943 track and field squad, to replace veteran Carl Olson, who is currently in the Navy.

Stickel, a senior in the School of Engineering, only last week set a new world's record in the 60-yard low hurdles in the N. A. A. U. championships in New York. During his four years of varsity competition, he led the field time after time, and was named on several all-American track teams.

WHAT A TEAM!
(International News Service) SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Ed Crotty, Notre Dame graduate of 1937, is establishing himself as one of the nation's best small college basketball coaches. He didn't play for the Irish, but learned enough about the game in physical education classes so that his Providence team opened the season with six straight victories, and an average of 73 points per game.

Hoover Urges Public Thrash Out Problems Of Lasting Peace Now

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia., March 16.—Former President Herbert Hoover on Monday advocated "free public discussion and the cold surgery of analysis" for the winning of a lasting peace in an address before a joint session of the Iowa legislature and galleries packed with guests.

The former president was in Des Moines attending the midwest governors' agricultural manpower conference.

In his talk to legislators, Hoover confined himself to post-war problems and a discussion of why the Versailles treaty failed.

By inference, he said Hitler and Hirohito should be punished for having plunged their people and the world into war. He said:

"One of these failures of the Versailles treaty was the attempt to punish the people instead of their leaders."

"There is the personal responsibility in heads of states and their associates for violation of treaties and agreements entered into with free will. Too long has it been assumed that there is something sacred about the heads of states who project or provoke war."

"New Approach" Needed
Hoover called for a "new approach" for a lasting peace, saying that war is produced by "destructive forces grouped in six categories—ideologies, economic pressures, excessive nationalism, militarism, imperialism and the complexes of fear, hate and revenge."

"Failure to meet these six dynamic forces means renewed war," Hoover said.

The Republican ex-president credited Democratic President Woodrow Wilson with "an heroic effort to bring about a just peace." He added:

"But he was finally driven back by these age-old forces and their age-old diplomacy. He finally placed his hope in the league and the spread of democratic government."

Two of the reasons the league failed, Hoover said, are that "incendiary fires were set along scores of boundaries. Debilitating economic barriers to trade were increased, not decreased."

He pointed to militarism, saying: "The one answer to militarism is disarmament. There was failure to really disarm the enemy. There was failure of the allies to disarm themselves. The Germans were allowed to perpetuate a military caste whose sole purpose is war."

"The lesson is that this caste both in Germany and Japan must be put out of the war business."

New Mechanics For Peace
Hoover suggested a change in the mechanics of peace-making.

He pointed to the nine months in which the world seemed in uncertainty, between the world war armistice and the treaty.

"In my view," he said, "the new approach to peace-making machinery there should be no general peace conference—there should be no 'armistice'."

"There should be substituted a 'conditional' peace imposed by the United Nations, which would include not only the usual armistice provisions for ending combat, but also the settlement of certain urgent problems which would at once establish political order and restart economic life and world spiritual recovery."

Hoover said that America should not await achievement of military victory to begin thinking of the post-war peace, and that there should be public discussion and understanding of the problems.

"We must first win the war," he said. "But we will not win lasting peace unless we prepare for it. And we can prepare only by full and free discussion and the cold surgery of analysis."

RATS
Rats are a dangerous nuisance. They destroy millions of dollars worth of food every year. They cause a lot of diseases. It would be a very difficult and expensive job to get rid of them.

The best plan at present is for each household to protect itself. Every building should be rat-proof. Doors should be kept shut so that rats cannot enter. If any rats get in, they should be trapped. Nothing which rats can eat should be exposed. Garbage cans should be shut tight.

Cats do not deserve their reputation. They are not much good as rat catchers.

It is disgraceful to have a rat in our house.

Proposed Meat Rations Plenty For White House

Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Crowley Agree Butter and Meat Allotments Generous

By MARIE MANNING
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Mrs. Philip Crowley, the Spearfish, S. D., mother who was drafted by the O.P.A. to represent the housewife's views on rationing, said Monday at Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's press conference that "unfortunately there are too many ways of evading" ceiling prices on food.

Mrs. Crowley, sitting at the side of the nation's first lady, refused, however, to go into details. Both Mrs. Crowley and Mrs. Roosevelt indicated they believed that proposed rations of two or two and one-half pounds of meat a week per person was plenty for the American home.

Mrs. Roosevelt was asked how the White House would get along under the meat ration allotment. She answered that it would not worry those at the White House at all because they don't eat that much meat a week.

The first lady then was asked whether the executive mansion could be kept going on four ounces of butter a week per person. She replied that the White House doesn't use that much, that its residents have butter only at breakfast.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she did not know of anybody in South Dakota who ate or had two-and-one-half pounds of meat a week.

Sea Of Flames
Seen Over Munich After Bombing

(International News Service)
BERNE, March 16.—A "sea of flames" was seen from the Swiss Alps over the skies of Munich following the Royal Air Force's great raid on the birthplace of Nazism on the night of March 10, residents of the area declared today.

The famous Hofbrauhaus, including the room in which Adolf Hitler founded the National Socialist party, was said to have been damaged in the attack. Barrels of beer were hurled about the court-yard by the force of the explosion. Surrounding houses were jettied to the ground.

Munich residents are convinced their city is being bombed in retaliation for the heavy Nazi raids on England in 1940 and 1941, rather than for its military objectives.

Meanwhile, reliable reports say that "fake" ration tickets were dropped in an effort to create confusion among the civilians. Members of Hitler youth groups are said to gather the tickets and sell them to unsuspecting residents.

HOUSE VOTES PAY INCREASE TO MEN IN POSTAL SERVICE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—The house today passed and sent to the senate a bill increasing the pay of postal employees $300 a year, their first pay boost in 18 years.

The roll call voted was 383 to 4. Asking for an overwhelming vote of approval on the bill, Rep. Hartley (R-N. J.), told the house that "if a veto comes, we're ready for it."

Special Surgical Dressing Quota Of 143,000 Achieved

'Wonderful Response' To Emergency Call; Regular Work Will Continue

Today's work on surgical dressings in the Red Cross work rooms in the Wallace block marked the fulfillment of a special emergency call on the local chapter for 143,000 dressings.

"The women have done wonderfully in accomplishing what they have in such a short time," Mrs. Norman A. Martin, chairman of the surgical dressing committee said today in expressing appreciation of the volunteer work women volunteer workers of New Castle and Ellwood City have done.

"It has meant extra time and extra work for many of them for us to get 143,000 dressings made in such a short time, but their wonderful response means that we have done what we set out to do," she said.

"Some idea of what it has meant to get this order ready in a month can be judged from the fact that it just about equals the number of dressings the chapter turned out during the entire six months preceding."

However, work will continue on the regular monthly quotas, the chairman emphasized. "We still have 85,000 a month to make and this means that classes will continue on the same schedule."

Art Institute Sues Bertrand Russell

Byrnes Foundation Charges Breach Of Agreement Regarding Lectures

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Attorneys for Bertrand Russell, 68-year-old philosopher and scientist, on Monday pressed for a summary judgment of $24,000 against Dr. Albert C. Barnes, head of the Barnes Foundation in Merion.

Russell claims that amount is due him under the termination of his $8,000 yearly contract three years ahead of schedule. Barnes has filed an answer defending his action on the grounds that Russell did not keep his promise to limit his lectures to the Foundation's class rooms and that he did not meet the standards of the institution's faculty.

Judge Guy K. Bard reserved decision with the comment that Dr. Barnes' allegation that Russell hadn't lived up to the school's professional standards was "rather weak."

In a contract signed in August, 1940, Russell was to receive $6,000 annually, but a month later, Barnes raised the British philosopher's salary to $8,000 per year. Barnes contends that the increase was made on Russell's promise to quit giving "popular lectures" after April 1, 1941.

Counsel for Russell pointed out that neither the no-lecture agreement nor definition of "professional standards" was in the written contract.

Boys In Africa Want More Letters Says Martha Raye

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 16.—Martha Raye, who underwent eight air raids and blitzes and spent three days in a slit trench under an air raid alert during her three months of entertaining troops in North Africa, plans to go back—as soon as she can make it.

"These boys need entertainment," the film comedienne said today. "Next to letters—which I want to urge everyone here to write as often as possible—the men want entertainment."

"The morale, however, is wonderful. Aside from wanting entertainment and more letters, I never heard a complaint from the boys, no matter what conditions they were fighting under."
